

INFORMATION, AUTHORIZATION, & CONSENT TO TREATMENT

Welcome! We are very pleased that you have chosen Positive Living Psychotherapy and are sincerely looking forward to assisting you. This document is designed to inform you about what you can expect from us regarding confidentiality, emergencies, and several other details of your treatment. Although providing this document is part of an ethical obligation of our profession, more importantly, it is part of our commitment to you to keep you fully informed of every part of your therapeutic experience. Please know that your relationship with your therapist is a collaborative one, and we welcome any questions, comments, or suggestions regarding your course of therapy at any time.

Background Information

The following information regarding educational background and experience as a therapist is an ethical requirement of our profession. If you have any questions, please feel free to ask.

Dr. Maureen Keown is a clinical psychologist who is licensed to practice psychology by the State of Georgia. She has worked in the field of psychology as a therapist and psychological examiner since 1996. Dr. Keown holds a Bachelor of Science from the University of Alabama, graduating with honors in psychology. She earned a Master of Science in psychology from the University of South Alabama and a Master of Arts in clinical psychology from Argosy University. Dr. Keown earned her Doctoral degree from Argosy University after completing an internship at the Miami VA Medical Center. Her post-doctoral training was completed in a private practice setting. Dr. Keown currently works in private practice in the Alpharetta area, treating adults with a wide range of issues, disorders or concerns using well-researched modalities of psychotherapy.

Jessica Bassett is a Marriage & Family Therapist. She is committed to helping treat couples, families, and teens. Her clinical interests include marital discord, improving family cohesion, self-esteem, and adolescent eating disorders. Jessica provides a safe space to all her clients allowing them to process difficult emotions and be able to better identify their goals. She uses multi-systemic therapy techniques, Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, and Gottman Method Couples Therapy in her work. Jessica Bassett holds a Bachelor of Science from Kennesaw State University, graduating on the Dean's List in Psychology. She earned a Master of Science in Marriage and Family Therapy and Counseling from Capella University and has been inducted into the Delta Kappa International Marriage and Family Therapy Honor Society.

Theoretical Views & Client Participation

It is our belief that as people become more aware and accepting of themselves, they are more capable of finding a sense of peace and contentment in their lives. However, self-awareness and self-acceptance are goals that may take a long time to achieve. Some clients need only a few sessions to achieve these goals, whereas others may require months or even years of therapy. As a client, you may end your relationship with your therapist at any point.

In order for therapy to be most successful, it is important for you to take an active role. This means working on the things you and I talk about both during and between sessions. This also means avoiding any mind-altering substances like alcohol or non-prescription drugs for at least eight hours prior to your therapy sessions. Generally, the more of yourself you are willing to invest, the greater the return.

Furthermore, it is our policy to only see clients who we believe have the capacity to resolve their own problems with our assistance. It is our intention to empower you in your growth process to the degree that you are capable of facing life's challenges in the future without us. We also don't believe in creating dependency or prolonging therapy if the therapeutic intervention does not seem to be helping.

If this is the case, we will direct you to other resources that may be of assistance to you. Your personal development is our priority. We encourage you to let us know if you feel that transferring to another therapist is necessary at any time. Our goal is to facilitate healing and growth, and we are very committed to helping you in whatever way seems to produce maximum benefit.

Confidentiality & Records

Your communications with us will become part of a clinical record of treatment referred to as Protected Health Information (PHI). We will always keep everything you say completely confidential, with the following exceptions: (1) you direct your therapist to tell someone else and you sign a "Release of Information" form; (2) Your therapist determines that you are a danger to yourself or to others; (3) you report information about the abuse of a child, an elderly person, or a disabled individual who may require protection; or (4) We are ordered by a judge to disclose information.

Structure and Cost of Sessions

Positive Living Psychotherapy will agree to provide psychotherapy for the fee structure set according to the therapist you choose. Sessions with Dr. Keown are $200 per 50 minute session; $225 for the initial visit or consultation. Sessions with Ms. Bassett are $150 per 50 minute session; $175 for the initial visit or consultation. Doing psychotherapy by telephone is not ideal, and needing to talk between sessions may indicate that you need extra support. If this is the case, we will need to explore adding sessions or developing other resources you have available to help you. The fee for each session will be due at the conclusion of the session. Cash, personal checks, American Express, Discover, Visa or MasterCard are acceptable for payment. The receipt of payment may also be used as a statement for insurance if applicable to you. Please note that there is a $25 fee for any returned checks.

Fees for legal services are billed at $400 per hour including communication with those involved in legal matters, travel, preparation and cancellations. We do not conduct custody evaluations and are not involved in forensic psychology. It is therefore not typical of this practice to become involved in legal proceedings with a client. If you are involved in a legal matter or likely to become involved in one in the near future, please advise us immediately so that an appropriate referral may be made.

Insurance

Insurance is not accepted or filed by this practice. The therapists at Positive Living Psychotherapy are not in-network with any insurance companies. However, we provide you with all documentation necessary for you to file out-of-network with your insurance company for reimbursement directly to you based on your plan benefits. Full payment is due at the time of your session. Feel free to call David Keenan at Medical Billing Solutions, Inc. at 1-888-734-0882 and he will be happy to check your out-of-network benefits.

Cancellation Policy

In the event that you are unable to keep an appointment, you must notify us at least 24 hours in advance. If such advance notice is not received, you will be financially responsible for the session you missed. Please note that insurance companies do not reimburse for missed sessions.

In Case of an Emergency

This practice is considered to be an outpatient facility and structured to accommodate individuals who are reasonably safe and resourceful. We do not provide our personal mobile phone information nor are we available at all times. If at any time this does not feel like sufficient support, please inform us, and we can discuss additional resources or transfer your case to a therapist or clinic with 24-hour availability. Generally, we will return phone calls within 24-48 hours. If you have a mental health emergency, we encourage you not to wait for a call back, but to do one or more of the following: Call Ridgeview Institute at 770.434.4567 or Peachford Hospital at 770.454.5589, call 911, or go to your nearest emergency room.

Professional Relationship

Psychotherapy is a professional service we will provide to you. Because of the nature of therapy, your relationship with your therapist must be different from most relationships. It may differ in how long it lasts, the objectives, or the topics discussed. It must also be limited to only the relationship of therapist and client. If you and your therapist were to interact in any other ways, you would then have a "dual relationship," which could prove to be harmful to you in the long run and is, therefore, unethical in the mental health profession. Dual relationships can set up conflicts between the therapist's interests and the client's interests, and then the client's (your) interests might not be put first. In order to offer all of our clients the best care, our judgment needs to be unselfish and purely focused on your needs. This is why your relationship with your therapist must remain professional in nature.

You should also know that therapists are required to keep the identity of their clients confidential. As much as we would like to, for your confidentiality we will not address you in public unless you speak to us first. We also must decline any invitation to attend gatherings with your family or friends. In sum, it is our duty to always maintain a professional role. Please note that these guidelines are not meant to be discourteous in any way, they are strictly for your long-term protection.

Statement Regarding Ethics, Client Welfare & Safety

We assure you that our services will be rendered in a professional manner consistent with the ethical standards of the American Psychological Association. If at any time you feel that we are not performing in an ethical or professional manner, we ask that you please let me know immediately. If we are unable to resolve your concern, we will provide you with information to contact the Georgia professional licensing board that governs this profession.

Due to the nature of psychotherapy, we are unable to guarantee specific results regarding your therapeutic goals. However, with your participation, we will work to achieve the best possible results for you. Please also be aware that changes made in therapy may affect other people in your life. For example, an increase in your assertiveness may not always be welcomed by others. It is our intention to help you manage changes in your interpersonal relationships as they arise, but it is important for you to be aware of this possibility.

Additionally, at times people find that they feel somewhat worse when they first start therapy before they begin to feel better. This may occur as you begin discussing certain sensitive areas of your life. However, a topic usually isn't sensitive unless it needs attention. Therefore, discovering the discomfort is actually a success. Once you and your therapist are able to target your specific treatment needs and the particular modalities that work the best for you, it is likely that this discomfort will subside.

We are sincerely looking forward to facilitating you on your journey toward healing and growth. If you have any questions about any part of this document, please ask. Please print, date, and sign your name below indicating that you have read and understand the contents of this form, you agree to the policies of your relationship with your therapist, and you are authorizing Positive Living Psychotherapy to begin treatment with you.
